August Worship Series: The Ancient Words of Elijah

This year, as we celebrate 100 years of worship in our sanctuary, we turn our eyes to the next 100. During the month of July, we said that we will continue to pass on a love for Jesus by learning to "Love like Jesus." Last weekend, Choir Camp reminded us that, wherever we go, we're on this journey together. When we live by faith, we can make it through the tough Tuesdays to the grace-filled Fridays. This month, we're digging into the ancient words of the Bible to tell the story of Elijah. Why? Because in the next 100 years, Royal Oak First will keep telling and retelling the stories that make us who we are. Come, as we hear these ancient words with modern ears, and listen for what they might say about who we are today.

Special Sanctuary Banners

Mary Nahhat has created two lovely new banners for our Sanctuary for our August Worship Series. As always, she had special inspiration from the Bible.

When the life of the great prophet Elijah was threatened, he escaped to the desert, as described in 1st Kings. Exhausted, he came to a broom tree and sat down under it. Broom trees, with soft leaves and fragrant white flowers, are common in the great deserts. Elijah fell asleep under the tree. As he was sleeping, an angel called out and provided him with food and drink to sustain him for the rest of his journey. Strengthened by nourishment, he continued his journey to Mount Horeb.

LETTER FROM THE PASTOR

Dear Friends,

This weekend, Pastor Jeff and three other leaders of Royal Oak First are 4,400 miles away, connecting and worshipping with our sisters and brothers in Lithuania. As a congregation, Royal Oak First has been the biggest financial supporter of the United Methodist Church in this Baltic country for decades. We've sent this team to continue rebuilding connections and friendships, working to match our longstanding financial relationship. Keep this team in your prayers as they represent this church, this country, and, most importantly, the love of God in this economically struggling nation.

I had the privilege to spend a week in Lithuania over a decade ago. While we were there, we were received at a beautiful old downtown church. There were roughly a dozen worshipers there, offering us the hospitality of instant coffee and crumbling packaged cookies. Two members, far older than the rest, stood out from the group, a married couple who told us how they were confirmed in the church just before the Russian army took over the building during World War II. They had watched the building go from garrison to armory to library and eventually to disuse during the 50 years of Soviet control. I'll never forget the joy on their faces as they described (through a translator) finally coming back to worship in the space. Hearing their story, our entire perspective on this meager reception changed. The gritty coffee had transformed into the Spirit of hope, and the cookies, in a miracle I can only call communion, had turned us into the body of Christ.

As our family spans the globe this weekend, I hope you'll join me in sharing a meal, telling our stories, and opening your heart to be transformed.

With love,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'Caleb Williams', with a long horizontal flourish extending to the right.

Caleb Williams,
Minister of Worship & Arts
