Anxiety Made Simple

Sunday, March 1, 12:15 pm

In our fast-paced, modern world we have come to expect daily anxiety and stress as normal, something we all have to "just deal with". For those with chronic anxiety, the feeling of being on edge, worried, or overwhelmed can seem so constant that it's impossible to change.

This talk will focus on explaining what anxiety is, how it works in our brain and our body, and how we can free ourselves from the downward spiral. With the right combination of information and practical tools, you will leave this talk with a greater understanding of what anxiety is, how it impacts our lives, how to leave anxiety behind, and how to help others trapped in the anxiety spiral.

Wondering what to do with all those plastic grocery bags?

Plastic grocery bags. They are difficult to recycle, but throwing them out is bad for the environment, so those bags tend to accumulate in drawers or an ironic “bag-of-bags” until we run out of room and get rid of them. Instead of throwing them away, you can drop them off in the church kitchen. In addition to being one of the most common requests from the guests of our lunch program, we use plastic grocery bags to make sleeping mats for people experiencing homelessness.

NOTE FROM THE PASTOR

Dear Friends,

On Valentine's night a group from our church met at the Tap House. We shared some food, listened to music and yes, there was a dance or two. It was a wonderfully eclectic group, married, single, divorced, widowed, all the ways we celebrate love in our church community. "What a fellowship; what a joy divine."

This Friday we kicked off the Fish Fry extravaganzas. Folks from all over the metro area came to our church for the warmest welcome and the best fish in town. The money raised from these events helps send our children to choir camp and there are lots of young faces bussing tables and delivering condiments at these dinners. In the sanctuary this week, our very own Leonard Benyas provided wonderful piano entertainment. "What a fellowship; what a joy divine."

You probably recognize those two phrases from the song and most of you are ready with the next line. "Leaning on the everlasting arms." I have come to believe that when we embrace each other in love we are indeed "Leaning on the everlasting arms." We know the embrace of our God through the loving arms of those around us.

We heard that song, "Leaning on the Everlasting Arms", as we celebrated the life of Dick Bryan Saturday morning. Dick Bryan was one of the most joyful and loving people I have ever met. This week his wife, Judy and his sister Ginny and I gathered in my office. We stood in a small circle, holding hands, praying and literally leaning on each other. "What a fellowship; what a joy divine. Leaning on the everlasting arms."

This weekend, we finish off our series on Modern Love. It's a BIG finish... (who said "Go big or go home?") We're talking about Big Love, Agape Love... that unconditional, expansive love that God has for each of us and that Jesus calls us to share in this world.

Pastor Myra
