TUESDAY NIGHT WOMEN'S BOOK STUDY

The Royal Oak First Tuesday Night Women's Book Study gathers informally each week to discuss a few chapters of the current book selection. We explore meaningful questions of life and faith and connect with each other in lively conversation. We are not serious scholars, but we are serious about fostering a deeper relationship with God and with each other. Join us at 7:00 p.m. on Tuesday, April 4 in the Youth Room, to begin "The Gifts of Imperfection" by Brene Brown. This book "...shows you how to embrace your inner flaws to accept who you are instead of constantly chasing the image of who you're trying to be because other people expect you to act in certain ways." Any questions, email Pam Belecki at pbelecki@wowway.com.

LETTER FROM OUR PASTOR

Dear Friends,

My neighbor and fellow church member Sue Schuldeis sent me this picture the other day. It was the first crocus of the season. Sue and I share a love of crocuses. They are one of the first signs of Spring.

The crocus is a brave little flower. Unlike the rose who waits until June when winter is safely in the rearview mirror, the crocus pushes its way through the hard and frostbitten ground to remind us that change is coming. The crocus reminds us that winter doesn't last forever.

I want to be more crocus minded. Wrongs don't work themselves out; injustices, inequities and hurts don't just dissolve. This tough little flower reminds me that somebody has to stick their neck out. Somebody has to care enough to think through and work through the hard ground. Somebody has to believe that a change of season is coming.

Easter is a lot of things. One of the things it is for sure is God's reminder that a season of discouragement and disappointment do not last forever. In the resurrection of Jesus we are reminded that God will initiate a new season of hope and renewal.

So be on the lookout for the crocus. Easter is coming!

Grace and Peace,

Pastor Jeff Nelson
