LETTER FROM OUR PASTOR

Dear Beloved Community,

As I write this week's letter, I find myself reflecting on a significant milestone that passed just last Friday—the one-year anniversary of my father's passing. As the day approached, I felt a warm and gentle joy take up residence in my spirit. It was a welcome and pleasant surprise. While I certainly miss my dad, I was pleasantly surprised that I wasn't feeling all that sad; rather, I felt a real sense of gratitude for the love we shared.

Over the years, Jesus had a profound hand in helping my father and me cultivate a wonderful friendship. We learned to love and accept each other for who we were, forgiving the imperfections and misunderstandings that had once created distance between us. During the last season of his life, our conversations grew deeper, and for the first time, he would ask me to pray with him (what good is it to have a son as a pastor if you can't have him pray with you, right?). We often recited together The Lord's Prayer and the 23rd Psalm, and in those sacred moments, I felt the presence of Christ binding us together in a way that transcended the challenges we had faced.

While I hold onto the hope of being reunited with my parents in the life beyond this one, I want to emphasize that my joy is rooted not in that future promise, but rather in the life and love we shared before death. This is what it means to make Christ's love real—to recognize and celebrate the fullness of God's love in our relationships right here and now.

As we journey together in faith, may we all find ways to embody this love in our interactions with one another, reflecting the grace that has been so generously given to us. Let us continue to support one another, share our stories, and inspire each other to see beyond ourselves, connecting with the divine love that surrounds us.

Come and See what it means to be the beloved community!

Grace and Peace,
